

How much is CRV? CRV is 5 cents on containers less than 24 ounces and 10 cents on containers 24 ounces or larger.

Beverage Containers Subject to CRV

- Beer and malt beverage containers—for example: Budweiser, Coors, Corona, Heineken, Zima
- Carbonated fruit drink containers—for example: Martinelli's Sparkling Cider, Izze sparkling juices
- Carbonated soft drink containers—for example: Coca-Cola, Pepsi, 7-Up, Mountain Dew
- Carbonated water containers—for example: Crystal Geyser Sparkling Mineral Water, Arrowhead Sparkling Water
- Coffee and tea beverage containers—for example: Starbucks Frappuccino Coffee, Arizona Iced Tea, Celestial Seasoning Tea
- Noncarbonated fruit drink container—for example: Hi-C, Margarita Mix, V8 Splash
- Noncarbonated soft drink containers—for example: Kool Aid Bursts, SoBe, Yahoo Chocolate Drink
- Noncarbonated water containers—for example: Arrowhead, Crystal Geyser, Sparkletts, Evian
- Sport drink containers—for example: Gatorade, PowerAde, All Sport
- Vegetable juice containers (16oz and under only)—for example: V8 Vegetable Juice, Campbell's Tomato Juice
- Wine cooler and distilled spirit cooler containers—for example: Franzia Wine Coolers, Bartles & Jaymes Wine Coolers, Smirnoff Ice Spirit Coolers

Beverage containers that are NOT subject to CRV: Milk, medical food, nutritional supplements, infant formula, wine, 100% fruit juice in containers 46 ounces or more, vegetable juice in containers 16 ounces or more.

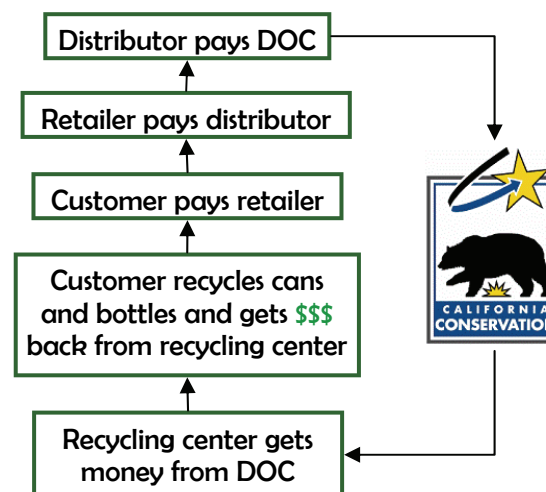

What is CRV?

CRV stands for California Redemption Value. CRV is our state's way of helping make sure beverage containers are recycled instead of thrown in the trash or left behind as litter. The goal of the recycling program is to achieve an 80% recycling rate for beverage containers, thereby reducing the beverage container component of litter in the state. But how, exactly, does the CRV program work?

It all starts with a payment made to the California Department of Conservation by beverage distributors on each beverage container sold in the state. The idea is that manufacturers have a responsibility to reduce the amount of waste their products create. This cost is passed onto the retailer and eventually to the customer at the checkout stand.

When consumers return their empty beverage containers to certified recycling centers, they recoup the CRV. At the end of the line, the Department of Conservation repays the recycling centers out of the money that was paid in at the beginning by the beverage distributors.

Even if you don't take your bottles and cans to a recycling center, it's still important to recycle them in your curbside recycling bin.
